Patches

Suddenly, arriving in London felt like a village. Previously, coming out of Euston Station and going to cross Euston Road seemed epic and big. Now, it was like a street and all small, and quiet. Pa...

At the National Library of Wales

At the National Library of Wales there are so many fake plants. Some of the plants are straight, some of them are curly, some of them fall like blobs, some of them wisp, some of them bite.
